

TIED JUNIOR AT BROWN TO GRAVESTONE

Ten Students Left Him, Clad in Night Shift, in Reheoboth Cemetery

Providence, Dec. 16 (U.S.A.)—Three Brown students, Franklin D. Elmer, Jr., of Hamilton, N. Y.; Walter V. Brown, of Providence; and Ellis S. Porter, of Southbridge, Mass., were under suspicion for the remainder of the present semester today.

Seven other students also were under college suspicion because of their being in the night shift, in Reheoboth cemetery, where they were seen by Frederick W. Warner, a junior, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

While attending Warner's scholarship ability, the alleged auditors they objected to Warner's learning and conduct on the college campus.

LOUIE XIV. STAR BELIEVES IN SUPPLE LIFE

Evelyn Law, dancing star with Ziegfeld's Louie XIV., doing one of her acrobatic stunts. It's stuff like this that keeps her in her "daily dozen."

Evelyn Law herself. She attributes her beauty, grace and health to her "daily dozen."

Two more ways in which the charming Evelyn preserves her girlish figure. She says acrobatics are the thing, and you don't have to glimpse at her twice to know she's right. These are both very simple little stunts to Evelyn.

Remember the tight-rope walker of circus days and her hand-taking balances? She has nothing on Evelyn Law, who has had the experience for her high kicks and acrobatic stunts, on the foundation of balance, learned without the aid of the circus rope.

"The first essential of any sort of dancing, is maintaining the power of balance," said Miss Law and proceeded to stretch one leg for over her head, in a perfectly vertical position.

COL. MITCHELL, STAR BELIEVES IN SUPPLE LIFE

Lawless, said Sec. Weeks

him and as he now holds.

The Secretary said he wrote the letter with great regret because he is a gallant officer with an excellent record, but he had to do so.

"This record shows the man has been such that he has forfeited the good opinion of those who are familiar with the facts, and who desire to promote the best interests of the nation."

CONTRADICTS FIGURES.
Mr. Weeks continued that General Mitchell had testified before the House subcommittee early this year that "we had not sixteen planes fit for war service," when there were "a matter of fifty" airplanes actually in use and 743 in stores.

"All this," the letter said, "has been known to General Mitchell when he apparently endeavored to state the contrary, by testifying that we had but sixteen planes fit for war service, at the same time making no reference to the explanation of the number of planes on hand and their condition."

The war secretary told the President that Mitchell knew that the end of the War Department was to look an appropriation of $100,000 a year for ten years for air construction and pay for 4000 officers, including reserves, and 25,000 enlisted men.

"I think I ought to add," Mr. Weeks said, "that in my judgment the reputation of the air service as provided in War Department plans and policies is sound."

After saying that the air officer had given the country the impression that officers of the army are "muzzled," the secretary offered the following in this connection as follows:

NOLAN ON STAND.
"Recommending the undetermined value of aviation in warfare and whether to obtain the judgment of anyone and everywhere whose testimony is entitled to consideration, the best interest of the nation will be served by encouraging officers in an unprejudiced and full discussion of all points relative to aviation."

"In testifying before Congress at committee, if their views are contrary to the views of the War Department, they will state in plain language that they are not speaking for the department policy, but are expressing their own personal views, and should do so without reservation."

"The air service," the secretary said, "is a very important one in our service, available as now for independent use in many other ways, wherever necessary, but always under the orders of the commander-in-chief of the United States."

BELIEVE SIKI SLAIN FOR $20 BOOZE DEBT

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—An obscure hoodlum, seeking blood payment for a small debt, is sought today as the man who killed "Battling" Siki, Brooklyn's "wild man" of the prize ring.

Police seek a hoodlum as the murderer because Mrs. Louis Phil Siki's wife, told them her husband was threatened by a man trying to collect a $20 liquor debt a few days ago.

Those of the ring and underworld who had followed Siki's exploits were not surprised when his body was found in Hell's Kitchen, for he had been in many brawls there.

He was known as a terror—outside the ring—long before he came to this country. He used to march the streets of Paris in a frock coat and silk hat, a monkey perched on his shoulder, and trailing a leashed lion cub behind.

That was after he had won the heavyweight championship from Georges Carpentier and lost it by beating all the expectations and going to Dublin to fight Mike McFigue on St. Patrick's Day.

Then he came to this country, boasted he was the "only fighter who could train on wine," fought a few unsuccessful fights, met his young mistress wife in Memphis and married her, and came to New York to build up his reputation as a prize fighter.

LABORBARDE COUNSEL GETS "CONFESSION" COPY
Nashua, N. H., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Counsel for Louis Laborbards, alleged slayer of the Olive savers in Hudson, N. H., last Summer, to say received from Attorney General Jeremy Walden a copy of the confession made to the police at the time of his arrest, following the double murder.

Laborbards later renounced this confession, according to Attorney Robert J. Doyle, his counsel.

Tentative date for the trial has been set for December 23, to be followed by the trial of Charlie Lefebvre, fifteen-year-old boy who was implicated by Laborbards, who is twenty-two, in his alleged confession.

WOMAN VICTIM MADE ILL BY POISON STAB

Attacked by Fiend in Darkness of Moving Picture
House in Lynn

A screen tragedy flickering before her eyes, muffled laughter from a stranger at her side, a swift stabbing thrust under cover of the darkness—these were the elements of the drama which Miss Elizabeth Roach, of 31 Beacon street, Lynn, fell victim last night to a moving picture fiend.

Accompanied by Miss Lillian Clifford, a sister, Miss Roach entered the theatre in the darkness that enveloped the screening of the film. Her attention was immediately attracted to a man, whose dark hair and mustache made her feel that she was looking at a fiend.

"I tried to move away from him," stated Mrs. Roach today, in recounting her strange night's experience. "and for a while he was quiet. Then I felt a burning stab in my side. Like the sharp point of a needle."

"Almost at once a dizzy, faint spell crept over me, and I whispered to my sister to help me out of the theatre before I fainted. We barely reached home when I fainted, and after Dr. Thorpe was called I fainted a second time."

"My sister called a policeman and ten minutes later we were back at the theatre, but the man had gone. I feel no serious effects from the needle today, only dizzy spells."

According to the police, Mrs. Roach was present at the attack, declared that she believed the person who had left the theatre immediately after her departure in an attempt to launch a second assault upon Mrs. Roach.

"I noticed that he kept looking at me right after the stab," stated Mrs. Clifford, "so if he were trying to learn its effect upon her. When he saw us go down the street, together he probably decided that two women would be too many for him."

SEIZED AS PAL OF 'COLLEGE BURGLAR'

John W. DeFenestration, twenty-six, alleged pal to be the pal and co-owner of Ralph Crockett, a well-known graduate who was recently found guilty of a burglary of a home in Boston, was seized today in the rear of an apartment building at No. 87 St. James avenue.

He is charged with breaking and entering a suite in the apartment house, but with a view to placing other charges against him. Superintendent Crowley is himself conducting an investigation of the case.

According to the police, Mrs. Roach has a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Roach, who is a nurse. She was seized today in the rear of an apartment building at No. 87 St. James avenue.

Good Description

On her way to school today a fifteen-year-old girl student at Newton Technical High School, was attacked by a man from whom she escaped, only after fighting him with all her strength.

The victim, Miss Newton, was seized by a man who was described as about twenty-eight years old, five feet, about twelve inches tall, of medium complexion and wearing a brown overcoat and gray cap.

The girl was turning into Forest avenue when a man stopped her and asked her to direct him to a street. As she was replying he grabbed her about the head and shoulders. Dropping her school books, she struck and kicked until he loosened his grip.

The girl's name is withheld by the Boston Evening American.

MONUMENT TO LODGE URGED BY TINKHAM

Lauds the Senator's Fight Against League and Fights the World Court Plans

To the memory of United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and the battle he waged against the League of Nations a monument will be erected in Washington if a resolution introduced today in Congress is adopted.

The resolution was introduced by Congressman George Holden Tinkham and was filed in the House as a joint resolution.

"There is only one road for America," said Tinkham, in commenting on the move for the Lodge memorial. "It is the road traveled by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. It is the road of absolute national independence and liberty."

He was about to engage in another great struggle to keep the United States from becoming entangled in foreign political alliances.

The Senate tomorrow will consider the resolution to adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations.

To all those who would have deserted in the hour of independence, the Senate tomorrow will consider the resolution to adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations.

The time has come for a permanent recognition of his services.

The Americanism is a living and vital thing, and that which he preserved in his lifetime will be preserved by his memory.

Lodge's Art Collection at Auction in Capital

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.)—Considerable interest in the auction of the effects of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts is being manifested by collectors here.

The opening sale yesterday was marked by brisk bidding, and approximately $10,000 was realized, with many private collectors competing.

Among the curios disposed of was a five-foot Japanese Buddha, which was carved in gilded wood, which brought $750, and a large Japanese mirror chest, which sold for $350.

Several bronzes, one a bust of Louis Pasteur, sold at prices ranging from $30 to $50. Paintings and engravings by several noted artists, along with rare objects, antiques, Oriental rugs, tapestries, hangings and mirrors, remain to be offered.

MYSTERY DEATH ON 'NARROW GAUGE'

WHERE BODY WAS FOUND

Mangled and jammed between two of the bridge between World War Memorial Park and Harbor View station the body of an aged man, believed to be James Sherry of Peabody, was found on the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad. Police are trying to determine whether he was robbed and pushed off a train to be run over by another train or fell off.

MAN MANGLED 4 FLEE ORIENT HEIGHTS FIRE BY TRAIN

Paul play is suspected in the death of a man believed to be James Sherry of No. 145 Washington street, Peabody, whose mangled body was found on the bridge of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad between World War Memorial Park and Harbor View station, East Boston.

A bookbinder in the man's coat pocket bore the name of James Sherry and it was learned that a Peabody man of that name dropped from sight after leaving a $60 Christmas Club fund out of the Charlestown Five Cents Savings Bank.

Sherry's family have been searching for him since he failed to return home. It is thought that he boarded a Lynn train and either fell or was thrown off into the path of an inbound train which crushed his body. Sherry was seventy-five years old.

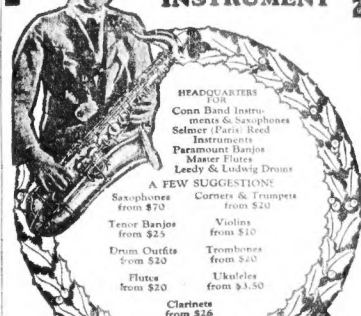

George McCarthy of Winthrop, an engineer on an inbound train, found the body lying on the edge of the tracks where it was partly burned between the ties, and thus prevented from falling into the water.

The Gift of Gifts

No gift could possibly be more acceptable, or provide more happiness for both giver and receiver, than a Better Buick. The cost is small when balanced against the pleasure this better motor car will bring to those you love.

If you are thinking of giving a Better Buick for Christmas, it would be a good idea to make your selection soon. We will have it waiting at your door when the sun comes up, on Christmas morning.

A Tremendous Price Reduction

On January seventh, Nineteen twenty-six, Dodge Brothers, Incorporated, will announce a tremendous reduction in the prices of their complete line of motor cars.

These reductions will apply on all cars bought after midnight December fifteenth, Nineteen twenty-five. When the new prices are made known on January seventh the full amount of the reductions will be immediately refunded to all purchasers since December fifteenth.

These revolutionary reductions are made possible by a recently completed ten million dollar expansion program—new buildings and equipment that will nearly double the capacity of Dodge Brothers factories in Nineteen twenty-six.

There is no change in the policy upon which Dodge Brothers established their leadership eleven years ago—the policy of constant improvement without yearly models.

BEATRICE
BURTON

A Real Life Serial of Love and Temptation in the Mad Whirl of Boston Business

READ THIS FIRST.

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. Both of them work for Dexter & Co., big Congress street bond firm.

Flossie, a beauty, helps to keep the files. Mary Rose is secretary to the sales manager, JOHN MANNERS, and is in love with him. Manners, however, is engaged to DORIS HING.

Mary Rose discovers that Flossie has been going on long drives with HILARY DEXTER, head of the company, and that he has been giving her valuable presents. When she orders Flossie to return them, the younger girl threatens to leave home and go to live with her chum, ALICE JAMES.

One night TOM FITZROY, a doctor who wants to marry Mary Rose, takes her to dinner at a country inn. In the court yard she sees Hilary Dexter's car, but he is not in the main dining room. She decides that he must be in one of the private dining rooms and wonders if Flossie is with him.

At Mary Rose and Tom leave the inn, she is sure she hears Flossie's voice in one of the private dining rooms. They listen, and sure enough, it is Flossie! Mary Rose opens the door and finds Flossie stretched out in a long chair.

With her is Alice James, a girl who lives in Queensbury street. Mr. Dexter and a third man unknown to Mary Rose "Take her home." Flossie mutters, "I'm so sick I could die."

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER VII

MARY ROSE, who had been so sure that Flossie was in the private dining room, now found herself in a different situation. She was in the main dining room, and she was looking at Hilary Dexter's car.

MAKING A HUSBAND

By Anne Lisle

When a young man is asked to marry a girl, he is often told that he must be a good husband. But what does it mean to be a good husband? It means to be a man who is kind, gentle, and loving. It means to be a man who is willing to sacrifice for his family. It means to be a man who is a good father and a good friend.

THE GIRL WHO PAYS AT HOME

By Lucy Lowell

How much of a girl's life is spent at home? It is a question that every girl should ask herself. For a girl who spends too much time at home, she may miss out on many of the joys of life. She may become lonely and depressed. She may lose touch with the world around her.

Two Types of Girl

There are two types of girls. One is the girl who is always happy and smiling. She is the girl who is always ready to help others. She is the girl who is always full of life and energy. The other is the girl who is always sad and lonely. She is the girl who is always looking for someone to love. She is the girl who is always feeling like a failure.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Lead to one who will not follow you will prove his love. Who wants an army, be him and some money. We ought to be able to find a girl who is not a fool. The desire to be a prince is to make our faith appear in the light we wish them, constitute a great part of our dignity. It is almost always the fault of the love not to know when he is no longer loved. A man may be more cunning than

COO-COO'S

by Ted Cook

Of course, many of us will be dragged to a tea room for Christmas dinner, where they serve the connoisseur by capsule and cut the turkey with a safety razor.

If you go to a tea room, they along a pair of trousers. They always serve a pie and a strawberry on Christmas.

And French drip coffee—from a medicine dropper.

At that, there's one plus thing about seeing Christmas dinner in the tea room. You never get any spots on your vest that can be seen with the naked eye.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT OF IT
This is Willbert Gulp, considered the most optimistic man in the United States today. When led to a tea room for Christmas dinner, he removed his coat and unbuttoned his vest before sitting down.

Another needless extravagance on the part of tea rooms would be insistently on the table.

WAS IT INADEQUATE?
If so, how much? The figures at one time completely surrounded the table and before they were checked, a garage at the table was also in flames and was only saved when a stream from a gasoline pump was applied on the structure.

City Hall is torn by another mighty lesion—whether or not to honor the fire boats against fire.

Comedian Amersbach contends that insurance for the fire boat is a needless annual expense. Perhaps he's right. But the captain should be warned to keep the boat away from fires.

On the other hand, many boat-owners carry life insurance. Don't forget them too.

If the fire boat does catch on fire, the city will, no doubt, sue the captain to line with its own powerful nozzles.

BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

"This is a very grandpa country," said Bobby.
"Yes, it is," I agreed, walking along the street of a village on the island of Exton.
"I think it's the funniest country I ever saw," said Bobby after a while.
"Because," said Bobby, looking straight up into my eyes, "I never saw a country where there were no men."
"No, none!" I exclaimed. "Why there seem to be just as many men as women."
"There are," Foxy Grandpa gasped Bobby. "But, look. They all wear skirts and have long hair and they carry umbrellas."
I laughed and then I did think how strange it was for the first time this unusual dress of the Christmas men.
"It must be awful funny to get up in the morning and have to comb your hair and put it up with a bar comb to it," said Bobby.
We stayed in the town for a while, but Bobby never became accustomed to the skirted, long-haired men and I used to chuckle to myself as I saw him peeping under the umbrellas to see if the bearers wore a moustache or not.
In a few days we went out into the country and one evening we took a walk after dinner and came to a kind of a tale the natives were holding.
We saw them do the devil-dance and wondered how they kept from getting dizzy as they spun around and around like tops.
While we were standing there in

DR. REED'S SECRETS OF HEALTH

By Charles A. L. Reed, M.D.

Former President of the American Medical Association.
It is not enough that you should look after the food, clothing, shelter and usual schooling of your children. Your duty as a parent extends to a supervision and direction of their mental habits and beliefs—the very things that become the controlling and directing factors in their health and success.
In carrying out this phase of your duty it is of the highest importance that you avoid establishing in your children what the scientist has appropriately called the "inferiority complex."
An inferiority complex is the conviction generally forced upon the child that he or she is inferior to other children or other people. That notion would be serious enough if it were all of the case. Unfortunately, however, the "complex" consists of a whole group of ideas, generally erroneous, and habits, generally vicious, by which the unhappy child tries to make up for his believed and accepted inferiority by shortsighted and often untruthful and dishonest methods.
The "inferiority complex" is of two expressed directly in a most self-destructive attitude, or it may give rise to a surface attitude of quite the reverse type.
In this way many a rather nervous, aggressive individual, who is by his behavior, arousing antagonism, is really attempting to compensate for a feeling of inferiority. The reaction may lead to serious confront against peace and order.

Thus a very efficient burglar was found on arrest to be a schoolboy whose daring escapades had no motive of ordinary gain behind them, but were a compensation for a feeling of inferiority, due to a physical handicap which made him the butt of his schoolmates.

It is always well to keep this possibility in mind when dealing with perplexing, wayward behavior. The feeling of inferiority may arise in relation to any of those qualities which are of value in social life.

The love of self, the tendency to selfassertion, the desire of the various attitudes of life make each one of us, in greater or less degree, sensitive to any defect in our equipment and to our position in relation to our fellows.

From an early age and in many ways each one may feel himself handicapped in the race with his fellows. The child may have some physical defect, some variation from the normal in his appearance; he may have less money to spend than his fellows; he may belong to a racial or religious group that is treated with little consideration; he may be rather dull mentally, or clumsy physically, or unduly timid and sensitive to pain.

The feeling of inferiority need not be crippling. In many a personality it furnishes a stimulus to extra effort and is a spur to the vigorous pursuit of power, of wealth, of honors, of abstract truth. It is not always the best endowed or those most favored by circumstances who achieve the greatest success.

These views must distinctly to several "don'ts" to be observed by parents for the prevention of the "inferiority complex."
Don't be a chronic peep in your daily attitude toward your children. Don't, under any circumstances, humiliate your children, especially in the presence of others.
Don't force them into associations with children to be or great in order to maintain what they think is an equality with other children.
Don't force them into associations at home, at school, or in the neighborhood on any other than a footing of actual equality.

CLASS OF BOYS PLAY GOOD FELLOWS

Letter from a young man to a girl, says they will not be a thing called love. The young man says that love is the satisfaction of knowing that you yourself have taken care of your own body and that you are a good person.

WHILE A CHILD

If a young man is to be a good fellow, he must be a good fellow while a child. The young man says that he was a good fellow while a child, and he is a good fellow now.

Who'll Be Sheriff for the World Court?

There are not two parties in this country, one for peace and one against it. All of us want peace. The only question is how best to secure it.

Some of our people sincerely want to enter the World Court of the League of Nations because they think that will bring peace.

Some of our people just as sincerely want to stay out of the World Court, fearing to associate with the warlike nations of Europe and to become involved in their disputes.

These people feel that a court means, sooner or later, a sheriff to enforce the court's decrees. They feel that the proposed World Court of the League of Nations means the League of Nations as a world policeman. They feel that we cannot enter the court without getting into the league.

They do not want the United States involved in any way in any of the intrigues of the League of Nations or its legal advisor, the World Court.

There is no use questioning the Americanism of our fellow citizens who want to stay out of Europe. They are in the same class as Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Lincoln and every other major American statesman until 1917.

If these stalwart Americans were alive today they would probably say that the league and the World Court are good for European nations to go into and good for the United States to stay out of.

Europe has a set of primary interests, as Washington said, which are foreign to us. We have our own problems, numerous and difficult enough, which we settle by our own League of Nations, the forty-eight States.

Even in European affairs our influence, whenever the people choose to exert it, will probably be greater if we are outside the League's court and not subject to domination or direction by the league.

Don't Let Up, Mr. Pinchot

Coal Operators Should Not Only Be Forced to Settle, but a Reversal of the Situation Made Impossible

Governor Pinchot has issued his call for the special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature. But he includes in that call a half-dozen subjects in which only Pennsylvania is interested.

The anthracite strike comes second to election reform. Added to it are revision of the banking law, prohibition enforcement, gasoline taxes, the Camden bridge and giant power schemes.

The one thing that the whole East wants to see is a policeman's club in the hands of Pennsylvania's Governor—a policeman's club with which he can come down hard on the anthracite operators' monopoly.

That monopoly has been described by the Supreme Court of the United States as criminal. It has shown itself conspicuous among big business units in this country as utterly and completely incapable of governing itself.

It stands today just where it did when Theodore Roosevelt went over after it with his big stick in 1902. Does Governor Pinchot remember that? Then, as now, this criminal anthracite monopoly was concerned in just one thing—breaking the miners' union—at no matter what cost of suffering to the public.

Governor Pinchot has an opportunity to go even further. He can make future strikes impossible. He can do so only by teaching these feudal barons of the Eastern hills that they do not run Pennsylvania or the Eastern United States.

He has hinted that he wants the industry declared a public utility and subject to investigation and control. If he goes through with that program the operators will settle. But that won't be enough. They are beyond the pale of a decent bargain.

They should not only be forced to settle. They should be forced into a position where they can never make possible a recurrence of the present situation.

He Has Hindsight, Anyway

Secretary Wilbur's Unpleasant Memory

Secretary Wilbur in his annual report shows he is endowed with the usual talent of armchair soldiers and sailors. He has hindsight.

Now that the Shenandoah is wrecked and his gallant men killed he remembers the final confession at which Lansdowne was given full liberty to postpone the flight. "This obscures the document in which the Navy Department wrote 'Disapproved' across his formal request to postpone it."

He remembers that he joined with the Secretary of War in asking the President to appoint the board to inquire into aviation generally. This obscures the memory of the yowl Mr. Wilbur uttered when such an inquiry was first demanded by public indignation.

Of course there is one school of military thought that estimates foresight more highly than hindsight. But foresight didn't seem to govern Mr. Wilbur. Not even when the Governor of California offered him an easy way out.

Look It in the Face

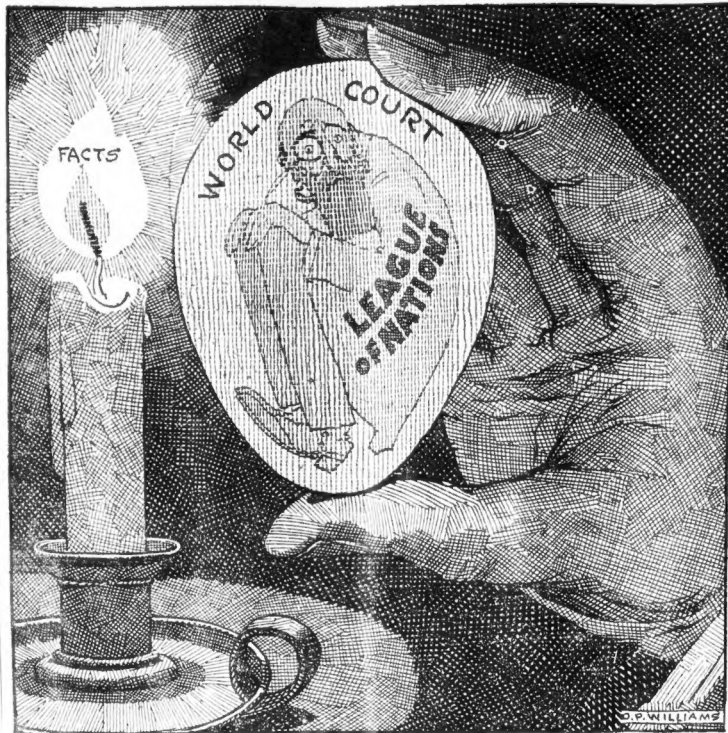

Judging from the steps taken toward allowing the Chinese to fix their own fiscal policies the powers are beginning to realize that the time has come when China can no longer be successfully controlled.

In regard to the remaining points the same attitude will, now or soon, have to prevail. Men who do not wish to trust Chinese courts will soon have to do business elsewhere.

Nobody has a God-given right to trade in China. As a matter of fact the extra-territorial courts exist only in the treaty ports and along the Yangtze River.

The rest of the interior trade has to depend on native courts and those who know most about China, such as the missionaries, with their large property interests, are satisfied with them.

A Bad Egg

This egg may be eaten. It may be set to hatch a bird. Doubtless, to tell for which purpose eggs are adapted, carefully "hatched."

If the egg has not started to develop a bird, it may be swallowed. If the shadow of the developing bird shows within, will you don't swallow that egg.

In the bright light of facts this sentimental egg called the World Court has within it the germ of the League of Nations.

For all its high title that league is a league of diplomats. And diplomats, despite their polished manners, are to European affairs what the ward hoolie is to American politics.

Don't even break this egg, much less try to break into it.

Y'all might say I ain't got a little sense to me, but you know, this world always get the worst of it in this world, as it's only fair if they put something over on the one who is a while.

Every day you and I hear that

I ALWAYS GET THE WORST OF IT

NOW DO YOU GET THAT WAY?

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland

Can a man of sixty really "love" inquires a Timid Soul

You—oh, my heart is not contented or was put from overwork. And, when I sleep, my son, he can be really happy.

The older we grow, the better we love, and the more we need love. But if you are seventy or fifty, or even over forty, "rich" in your own mind, you are poor in your own heart.

Your greatest and your falsest wealth is in the heart.

The man's greatest wealth is in the heart. The man's greatest wealth is in the heart.

The man's greatest wealth is in the heart. The man's greatest wealth is in the heart.

The man's greatest wealth is in the heart. The man's greatest wealth is in the heart.

MANY WORRIED ONLY BY SMALL TROUBLES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE late Joseph Pulitzer was once stalled in an automobile far out in the country in France.

Turning to his companion he remarked: "You see how quiet I am? Real troubles never bother me. It is only the small annoyances that upset me."

This paradoxical condition of mind is typical of many men.

Under the excitement of great affairs, of crises, they are calm and unworried. The seemingly simple, small things are the ones that upset them.

Rogues fly, one of the early aviators, once made a daring flight over a city and landed upon the deck of a battleship.

When a friend invited him to go to the top of a high tower to look over the course he had down he refused, saying looking down from a tower always made him nervous and dizzy.

The writer once knew the head of a big manufacturing concern in the Middle West who during years of handling the responsibility of directing the affairs of one of the biggest concerns of its kind remained unworried and master of the situation.

During a period of hard times the business went bankrupt and he was forced to open a little bookstore on a side street.

The small details and worries of the bookstore fretted him continually, whereas the big decisions had left him placid. The hours of Austerlitz and Waterloo found Napoleon calm and steady, while the little irritations at St. Helena were maddening.

Louis Mowbray, piscatorial collector in charge of transporting specimens to the New York Aquarium, says that fish often get seasick during transportation.

In the small tanks of the conveying ships the abrupt movement of the water makes them lose their equilibrium, while huge waves in the ocean leave them unaffected.

The big calibre man is often similarly affected when placed in a small calibre job.

He finds himself unable to keep his mental equilibrium and his serenity of mind under the constant abrupt and irritating demands of the small job, when he could give far-reaching decisions with equanimity.

FACTS CONCERNING LIGHT AND HEAT

By GARRETT P. NERVUS, Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics or Popular Interest.

I would like to ask two questions: How much light and heat are there in the world? and how much of it is used by the world?

From this it follows that at the equinoxes of the year the direct rays of the sun strike the equator. At the winter solstice the rays strike the Tropic of Cancer. At the summer solstice the rays strike the Tropic of Cancer.

HOUSEWIFE THAT FAILS IS PLAIN QUITTER

Many wives have the reputation of being good cooks because they serve fine meals to company. But these same housewives often give very little attention to the way meals are served to their own families when they are alone.

Meals are thrown together in the easiest, quickest way, and slovenly service is the rule, not the exception.

When the man provides material for good meals, he has a right to expect the food to be well-cooked and not served on the corner of a belittled table.

There can be no pleasant anticipation of an enjoyable meal to the homeward-bound man if he knows that he will be met with the remark: "Oh, are you home so soon? I'll just get together something as soon as I can. Have been too busy to prepare a regular meal."

A wife should feel that her job is worthy of her best efforts. Keeping that house in proper order and carefully preparing palatable meals is a part of her contract.
